News from our cities

The European Commission has announced Grenoble Alpes Métropole as the winner of the 2026 European Capital of Innovation Award (iCapital), supported by Horizon Europe.

Grenoble Alpes Métropole has been awarded the title of European Capital of Innovation, along with a €1 million prize, in recognition of its bold and forward-looking approach to sustainable urban development. The city stood out for its strong focus on renewable energy solutions, smart infrastructure, and community-driven innovation to address both environmental and social challenges.

This achievement is particularly meaningful for CLIMABOROUGH: Grenoble Alpes Métropole is the second of our cities to win the European Capital of Innovation Award in a row, following last year's success of Torino. It is a powerful testament to the ambition, creativity, and impact of the cities within our community.
